HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Dennis Gage '75, Ph.D.

Entrepreneur, scientist, musician and producer

Dennis Gage '75 earned a bachelor's degree in physics and chemistry. His undergraduate research in quantum physics involved computations on the College's first computer, a PDP-8, under the supervision of Dr. Paul Sutton. The research earned Gage an American Chemical Society award.

Following graduation, Gage learned to play the pedal steel guitar—a pursuit that led him to open for music icons like Charlie Daniels and Waylon Jennings. After two years as a musician, he returned to academia and earned a doctorate in chemistry at the University of Idaho. His research there helped assess the potential health impact resulting from the 1980 eruption of Mount St. Helens. He then became a product development scientist at The Procter & Gamble Company and worked on many food products, including Pringles potato chips. Ten years later, Gage became director of product development at a Bristol-Myers Squibb company.

In 1995, Gage became co-owner of a video production company and hosted a new pilot series, "My Classic Car" for TNN, nurturing his lifelong passion for cars and motorcycles. Later, he became sole owner of the production company, renaming it MadStache, Inc.

Gage serves on several academic and industry advisory boards. With a business partner, he earned the Ernst & Young Entrepreneur of the Year Award in 2000. He received the Lee Iacocca Award in 2014 and was inducted in the Specialty Equipment Market Association Hall of Fame in 2015. Gage and his wife Ellen are parents to Emily, Jillian and Sam.

FACULTY EMERITI

Kenneth Campbell, Ph.D.

Associate Professor of Management

Kenneth Campbell integrated a unique perspective to teaching management, leadership, strategy and organizational behavior. Graduate students in his M.B.A. courses were introduced to liberal arts and science subjects like mythology, literature, physics and neurophysiology. He felt that to understand behavior, change and leadership required a broad learning perspective, like using physics to explain the challenge of sustaining organizational momentum. Drawing on his science background and his Master Mariner's License, he taught meteorology for one year.

Campbell joined North Central in 1990 and earned tenure in 1996. For 27 years at North Central, he taught 244 courses, of which 160 were graduate classes. He was coordinator of the M.B.A. program from 1998 to 2008 and led it through fundamental curricula and philosophical change. He especially enjoyed his role as faculty marshal for 15 years. His management and leadership career spanned 13 years before his career in academia. Campbell received his B.S. degree from Miami University (1976), M.B.A. from the University of Phoenix (1982) and doctorate in human resource development and organizational psychology from Georgia State University (1989).

FACULTY EMERITI

Rebecca Clemente, Ph.D.

Professor of Education

Rebecca Clemente invested 16 years as an elementary school teacher before deciding to continue her career as a teacher of teachers and pursue a Ph.D. Her doctoral study in curriculum and instruction with an emphasis in teacher education and staff development fueled her passion for working with future teachers and graduate students. Clemente taught courses in elementary teaching, teaching and learning from underserved communities, elementary assessment of learning educations, a teacher-leader capstone and graduate courses in curriculum and instruction. She's inspired 5,250 teachers, who impact 157,500 students each year.

She served as chair of the department of education, coordinator of the graduate degree program in education, and director of the Center for Teaching and Learning, which provided professional and personal growth opportunities for faculty.

Clemente received her undergraduate degree (1971) from Ashland University and her master's degree (1988) and her doctorate (1992) from Kent State University. She joined North Central in 1997 as assistant professor of education, was promoted to associate professor and received tenure in 2001, and was promoted to full professor in 2007.

Gerald Gems, Ph.D.

Professor of Kinesiology

Gerald Gems inspired his students to take a deeper look at sports, exploring its role in shaping modern society and cultural identity. Longtime chair of the health and physical education department, he launched the exercise science major and helped redesign the College's highly esteemed athletic training program.

He is an internationally recognized scholar of sports history and the author of 19 books and more than 230 articles. He curated an exhibit for Chicago's Harold Washington Library Center. He is currently vice president of the International Society for the History of Physical Education and Sport, and was previously president of the North American Society for Sport History, the field's most prestigious organization.

Gems twice won the Dissinger Prize for Faculty Scholarship (1996, 2002). He earned a Fulbright Senior Scholar Award (2011) and International Routledge Award for Scholarship (2016).

Gems received his B.A. from Northeastern Illinois University (1977), master's degree from University of Arizona (1980) and doctorate from University of Maryland (1989). He joined North Central in 1988 as an assistant professor, was named associate professor in 1994 and promoted to full professor in 1999.

Nancy Keiser, Ed.D.

Professor of Education

Nancy Keiser served as a role model for countless North Central students who were inspired by her commitment to elementary and secondary education. She was exceptionally dedicated to helping new majors master the basics of lesson planning and to collaborating with students as they pursued their research interests. Her own scholarship focused on teacher preparation, social studies education and nature's impact on people.

Named a Ruge Fellow in 2014, she coordinated the teacher education program for seven years. She also directed two Southeast Asia D-Term trips and collaborated with North Central history professors and Naper Settlement on a Teaching American History Grant, providing enrichment to local teachers.

In 1998 she was one of 10 U.S. professors to participate in a Southeast Asia seminar sponsored by the Ford Foundation, and in 2010 she copresented the top paper at the American Institute of Higher Education's Fifth International Conference.

Keiser earned her B.A. from Luther College (1976) and her master's (1981) and Ed.D. (1997) from Northern Illinois University. She joined North Central in 2002 as associate professor and was named full professor in 2012.

HONORS & AWARDS

The Gael D. Swing Award for Meritorious Service

The North Central College Gael D. Swing Award for Meritorious Service was established in tribute to the eighth president of North Central College, who died in 1990 just one month before completing his 15th year as president. Under President Swing's leadership, the College substantially improved its physical facilities and financial condition while nearly tripling its enrollment; gained regional and national recognition for the quality of its academic programs, its faculty and its students; and instituted the Leadership, Ethics and Values Program. The Swing Award is presented at Commencement to recognize alumni, trustees and friends of North Central College whose service to the institution exemplifies the quality and integrity that were hallmarks of Gael D. Swing's distinguished tenure as president of North Central College.

The Harold and Eva White First Citizen of the College Award

The Harold and Eva White First Citizen of the College Award was created to recognize at Commencement a member of the North Central College "family"—faculty, staff or student—who exemplifies the best of the College. Established in 1992, the award honors a "unique spirit and legacy" at North Central College, that of longtime editors and publishers of The Naperville Sun, the late Harold and Eva White, both graduates of the Class of 1935.

Harold and Eva White displayed a special spirit and citizenship in the community and on campus. Through their caring editorship of The Naperville Sun over more than a half century, their philanthropy and their generosity of spirit, they shaped what is great about North Central College and Naperville.

Eva White was a member of North Central College's Board of Trustees for 16 years and served as board secretary from 1986 until her death in 1990. She received an honorary doctor of letters degree in 1987. Harold White, who was named a North Central College Outstanding Alumnus in 1975, was awarded an honorary doctor of letters degree by the College in 1977 and was named an honorary trustee of the College in 1991. He passed away in 1993.

The Mark A. Reid Leadership Award

The Mark A. Reid Leadership Award is named in honor of a young man who died in an automobile accident in 1984 during his term as president of the North Central College Student Association. The recipient of this annual award is determined by a vote of the senior class. It is presented at Commencement to a student who has demonstrated outstanding leadership ability, served prominently as a positive influence in student affairs, encouraged active involvement of others in the life of the College community, and exemplified the qualities of citizenship associated with Mark A. Reid.

The 2017 Dissinger Memorial Awards

The Clarence F. Dissinger and Ruth C. Dissinger Memorial Awards are funded by endowments established by Dr. Carl '21 and Ruth Dissinger '22 Althaus in memory of her brother, a member of the Class of 1921, and later by Dr. Althaus in memory of his wife. Awards are made to faculty and staff who have distinguished themselves in teaching, scholarship and service "over and above the call of duty." North Central College wishes to further recognize these outstanding educators and administrators.

Academic Regalia

The pageantry and color of an academic convocation such as today's Commencement come to us from early medieval times, when academic robes and regalia were adapted from ecclesiastical garb. Most robes were black to symbolize the democracy of scholarship, since they covered any dress indicating rank or social standing.

Three levels of academic achievement are represented by different types of gowns today. Successful completion of the bachelor's degree is symbolized by the bachelor's gown, made of black material with long, pointed sleeves. The master's gown is black and is identified by its oblong sleeve, square at the end and sealed.

Although some universities prescribe a solid color such as red or green for doctoral gowns, most in the United States are black. Doctoral gowns have vertical stripes of velvet trim on each front facing, and crossbars of velvet on the sleeves. This trim may be black, or it may match the edging of the hood, which indicates the profession or field of major interest. These gowns have bell-shaped sleeves.

The length and shape of the academic hood, and the width of its velvet edging, identify the level of the degree the wearer has earned, while the color of the velvet edging indicates the field or discipline in which the degree was granted.

Because members of the North Central College faculty completed their graduate work at many different educational institutions in this country and abroad, there will be a variety of raiment in today's procession. Some degree holders wear no hood because their academic robe itself symbolizes the degree awarded.

For formal processions, members of North Central's Board of Trustees traditionally wear doctoral gowns and hoods with a red and white lining to represent the College.

The gown and hood worn by President Troy D. Hammond reflect his doctoral degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT). Cardinal red and silver gray, the official school colors of MIT, also appear in his headwear. The dark blue velvet trim on the hood signifies the color of his Ph.D.

Caps, generally mortarboards with tassels, have their own significance. Some international degree holders wear special hats distinctive to their degree and institution. Master's and bachelor's tassels are black, while the doctorate tassel may be black or gold. The doctoral cap may be made of velvet. Those North Central College undergraduate students wearing gold tassels on their caps today are graduating with honors—cum laude, magna cum laude or summa cum laude.

Seal & Presidential Medal

The North Central College seal was designed in 1925 for Pfeiffer Hall to symbolize North Central's early academic tradition: religion, signified by the lamp, and learning, represented by the book. The words "lux" and "veritas" mean "light" and "truth" in Latin.

The seal is featured on the presidential medallion, which is worn by the president in ceremonies requiring academic regalia. The medallion reflects the president's authority, responsibility and role as representative of the campus community. Cast in bronze, the medal is inscribed with the names and service dates of the previous nine presidents.

International Participants

Sashes embroidered with international flags are being worn by students who have studied abroad while enrolled at North Central College. In addition, the flags next to the stage represent the home countries of international students who are graduating today and countries where graduates studied abroad.

Chile	Indonesia	Spain
China	Ireland	Sweden
Costa Rica	Italy	United Arab Emirates
Ecuador	Japan	United Kingdom

Honor Cords

A solid gold honor cord symbolizes the "excellence through community" that is this program's motto. In addition, select North Central College students have been inducted into national honor societies. The following lists the cord colors.
