Singing of the Alma Mater* All

North Central is the school we love,
 To her we sing this praise,
 And from the East and from the West
 You hear the voices raise...

Hail! Hail! North Central Hail!
 Our Alma Mater true,
 We'll always, always loyal be
 To you, to you, to you.

Recessional* North Central College Graduation Band

A reception for graduates, parents, friends and members of the campus community will be held outside in Championship Plaza at the conclusion of the ceremony. In the case of inclement weather, the reception will be held in Merner Field House.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Ryan Dowd '00, J.D.

Executive Director, Hesed House

Ryan Dowd '00 earned a bachelor's degree in religious studies before attending the Northern Illinois University College of Law. Upon receiving his dual J.D. and M.P.A. degree in 2003, Dowd turned down a position as an attorney to become associate director of Hesed House, a homeless shelter in Aurora, Ill. He was named executive director in 2004. Dowd began volunteering at Hesed House at age 13 and joined the staff when he was a student at North Central College.

From 2013 to 2014, Dowd served as executive director of the Center for Faith and Human Rights and then served the same role from 2014 to 2016 for Ayuda, a non-profit organization that provides services to immigrants in the Washington, D.C., area. He returned to Hesed House as executive director in 2016. Hesed House continues to be recognized as a national model for serving the homeless.

Dowd published "The Librarian's Guide to Homelessness: An Empathy-Driven Approach to Solving Problems, Preventing Conflict, and Serving Everyone" for the American Library Association in 2018. He travels all over the United States training municipal organizations on proper engagement with homeless individuals. He also gave a TEDxNorthCentralCollege talk in 2015.

Dowd received the 2011 Alumni Recognition Award from North Central College. The City of Aurora designated August 27, 2013, as "Ryan Dowd Day" and U.S. Congressman Bill Foster recognized Dowd in the U.S. House of Representatives that year for his work at Hesed House.

OUTSTANDING SENIOR

Each year at Honors Convocation, North Central College names an Outstanding Senior.

Sarah Gaither '18

O'Fallon, Illinois

Sarah Gaither '18, a physics and environmental studies major, was named the 2018 Outstanding Student in Interdisciplinary Studies. She presented her research on photovoltaic cells at the Association for the Advancement of Sustainability in Higher Education Conference, the Rall Symposium for Undergraduate Research and the annual Presidents Club Dinner.

Gaither was a captain on the North Central women's soccer team and was a member of the Chi Alpha Sigma honor society for student-athletes with high academic and athletic achievement. She was co-president of the North Central College Fellowship of Christian Athletes and vice president of Green Scene, a student environmental activism organization. As a student worker in the Office of Sustainability, she was actively involved with the implementation of photovoltaic cells on three North Central College buildings, and was also a mentor for freshman student-athletes and a physics tutor for high school students.

She will pursue a dual M.B.A. and master of engineering degree in energy systems at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

FACULTY EMERITI

Marti Bogart, Ph.D.

*Associate Provost and Dean of Academic Services;
Associate Professor of Economics*

Marti Bogart's talents and dedication have influenced nearly all academic functions of North Central College. Her leadership has been crucial to search committees, faculty hires and evaluations, budgets and course scheduling. She provided a fair but firm presence for hearing complaints, petitions, probations, dismissals and appeals on behalf of Academic Affairs. In recent years, her keen management and coordination of space for classrooms and offices was integral to the success of relocating dozens of faculty and departments to the Dr. Myron Wentz Science Center, new School of Business and Entrepreneurship and renovated Goldspohn Hall. She also provided insight and leadership to the semester calendar task force as co-chair.

Before assuming her administrative duties as associate academic dean in 1999 and associate provost and dean of academic services in 2015, Bogart was an esteemed teacher of economics. She came to North Central College in 1982 as an instructor of economics, earned tenure in 1988, became associate professor in 1990, chaired the economics department from 1988 to 1992, and then chaired the economics and business division from 1992 to 1998.

Her teaching and service to the College have been recognized with a Clarence F. Dissinger Award for Distinguished Teaching (1988) and the Harold and Eva White First Citizen of the College award (2011).

She earned her bachelor's (1978) degree from John Carroll University. She received her master's degree from Purdue University (1980), followed by her Ph.D. in economics in 1985.

Martha Bohrer, Ph.D.

Professor of English

Martha Bohrer is widely admired for her steadfast commitment to students, campus leadership and unflinching dedication to the College.

In 2002 Bohrer joined the English faculty at North Central after pursuing private sector careers in sales and water resources planning. An expert on the intersection of natural history and literature, Bohrer found innovative ways to engage students by tapping into her own wide-ranging interests. She played a major role in establishing the environmental studies program with its intensely interdisciplinary curriculum. As coordinator of environmental studies from 2007 to 2009 and again from 2016 to 2018, she first helped create the minor and then led its transformation into a popular major. She was also an esteemed member of the English department, teaching courses in writing and 18th and early 19th century British literature. In 2017 she was awarded the Harold and Eva White First Citizen of the College Award.

Bohrer served as chair of the English department from 2011 to 2015 and as faculty speaker from 2015 to 2017. She led her colleagues through reorganizing the College's academic structure, revising the faculty evaluation process, adopting a new academic calendar and creating the Shimer Great Books School. An avid traveler, she also mentored students at Cardinal Camps in Utah and on December Term trips to Ghana, Turkey and Tunisia.

Bohrer earned her bachelor's from Cornell College in geology and environmental studies (1978); master's from Miami University of Ohio (1996); and Ph.D. in English language and literature from the University of Chicago (2003).

Jean Clifton, Ph.D.

Associate Professor of Management

Jean Clifton's academic career was devoted to the success of students in the human resource management program and in Enactus (Students in Free Enterprise), a cocurricular organization that develops multiple projects for an annual national competition.

Clifton joined North Central College in 2000. In 2006, she was promoted to associate professor of management and marketing and received tenure.

Clifton helped to obtain a $20,000 James S. Kemper grant to fund student travel to Guatemala for the Enactus coffee import project. She traveled to Guatemala many times with students and became a scholar on the topic of service learning.

Her other area of scholarship focused on the effects of corporate restructuring on families, unions and employees. She established the Student Human Resource Management organization and maintained close relationships with her former students. Her courses included Human Resource Management, Organizational Behavior, Compensation, Personnel Management and Employment Law at both the undergraduate and graduate level. In 2018, she received the Harold R. Wilde Distinguished Service Award for service to students.

Clifton earned her bachelor's (1981) and master's (1988) degrees from the University of Minnesota, and Ph.D. from Cornell University (1999).

Thomas Clifton, Ph.D.

Associate Professor of Management Information Systems

Thomas Clifton joined North Central College in 2000, bringing expertise in management information systems, quantitative methods, statistics, operations research, econometrics and human resource management to his teaching in the Division of Economics and Business, now the School of Business and Entrepreneurship.

In 2001, he was appointed coordinator of the Master of Science in Management Information Systems program. He was granted tenure in 2003. Over the course of his career, Clifton provided leadership to the institution as chair of the Faculty Personnel Committee after serving as a member for four years and also as chair of the Economics and Business Division. He published in journals such as Industrial Relations, the International Journal of Manpower and others.

For 12 years, Clifton has been a devoted faculty mentor and academic resource for the football team. He consistently volunteered to participate in overnight admission visits and meetings with prospective football players and parents and any student interested in business.

He earned both of his degrees from the University of Minnesota, a bachelor of science degree in economics (1982) and Ph.D. (1990) from the Carlson School of Management.

Professor of Spanish

Beverly Richard Cook was devoted to opening doors for students to experience international travel, culture, service and language.

Since arriving at North Central College in 1989, Cook has taught all levels of Spanish, plus courses such as Spanish Literature, Spanish Theatre, Civilization and Culture of Spain, Latin American Short Story, Hispanic Women Writers, Border Theory, Hispanic Film, and many more. Her teaching included courses in gender and women's studies and graduate degree programs.

She also led two undergraduate study abroad terms in Costa Rica and several December Term trips and participated in service experiences in Spain, Mexico, Peru, Nicaragua and Cuba.

As chair of the department of Modern & Classical Languages (MCL) from 2001 to 2006, she oversaw the implementation of the language requirement for undergraduate students. She served nearly 20 years as the liaison between MCL and the education department. Cook received summer curriculum grants as part of North Central's development of the Middle Eastern and North African Studies program. Over the course of Cook's career, her scholarship included many publications, translations and conference papers. One of her ongoing projects involves translating and oral interpretations for librarians in the Dominican Republic through the NGO Pathways to Global Literacy, where she also serves on the board of directors.

Cook earned her bachelor's (1979), master's (1983) and doctorate (1989) degrees from the University of Kentucky. She also earned a secondary certification in Spanish and English in 1980.

Sheryl Finkle, Ph.D.

Professor of Education

Sheryl Finkle spent 22 years at North Central College preparing her students to enter the teaching profession by modeling the characteristics of superior educational leadership. She introduced first-year students to the education field and readied seniors for their student teaching experience.

Finkle taught English, psychology and special education in secondary schools for 10 years before becoming a teacher educator. Her courses at North Central College included general and English methods courses, composition courses and graduate seminars in problem-based learning and literacy teaching. She supervised undergraduate student teachers and graduate teaching assistants in English. She conducted workshops and in-service programs on problem-based learning and presented papers on reading, writing, critical thinking and problem solving.

She served in many important campus leadership roles and participated in the Verandah Proposal Review Subcommittee for the past nine years. In a short timeframe, Verandah courses explore unique topics, and Finkle conducted courses including "Face to Face: Connecting Cultures/Crossing Borders" to connect students with their peers from other cultures. She presented on cross-cultural pairings of students at a conference of international educators in 2014.

Finkle joined North Central College in 1996, was granted tenure in 2002 and promoted to full professor in 2008. She earned her bachelor's of science (1975) and master's of science (1981) degrees from Illinois State University and her Ph.D. (1990) from The Ohio State University.

Richard Guzman, Ph.D.

Professor of English

Over the course of his 41 years at the College, Richard Guzman has shown himself a wildly resourceful and creative teacher. His students have noted that the published poet and composer had a lecture style "like jazz." He has won both a Dissinger Award for Outstanding Teaching and a Sears Foundation Award for Outstanding Teaching and Leadership.

A widely published academician, Guzman developed and directed North Central's master's programs in liberal studies, leadership studies and writing/editing/publishing; he also founded the master's program in social entrepreneurship. He chaired the English department from 2001 to 2004, and served as president of the Association of Graduate Liberal Studies Programs from 2000 to 2002.

Guzman helped create a vast array of programs that shaped virtually every facet of the campus community. He led in establishing the Cultural Events Program; College Scholars Program; NCC Review; Film Central; CELLULOID; CODE (Coalition on Diversity in Education); and Gospel Extravaganza. He also modeled social responsibility through his extensive community service, which included working in homeless shelters, being active with Emmanuel House (founded by Rick '99 and Desiree Guzman in memory of his late son, Bryan Guzman '08), and working with Naperville schools to develop diversity plans and integrate foreign languages.

Guzman earned his B.A. from the University of California Berkeley (1971); his M.A. from California State University (1973); and his Ph.D. from the University of Virginia (1977), where he founded its first writing center.

John Madormo

*Assistant Professor of Broadcast Communication;
General Manager of WONC-FM 89.1*

For 38 years, John Madormo mentored generations of students toward successful careers in radio and television. He came to North Central as general manager of the College's student radio station, WONC-FM, in 1980 after a successful six-year stint at WGN-Radio. He took WONC from a noon-to-midnight broadcast with limited student participation to an award-winning, 24-hour rock, news and sports station with a dedicated home in Oliver Hall on Chicago Avenue. Under his leadership, WONC was voted Best Overall in 2015 by the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System—and has been nominated every year since—and has won 20 prestigious Marconi College Radio Awards. No other college or university radio station in the nation has won more.

Madormo taught subjects ranging from audio production to copywriting to broadcast law. He was promoted to assistant professor in 1993, and won the Dissinger Award twice, in 1995 and 2002. He was a faculty mentor for the men's basketball team starting in 2005.

As an accomplished writer, Madormo published four "Charlie Collier Snoop for Hire" children's mystery books, and has excelled at numerous screenwriting competitions.

Madormo holds a B.A. in speech communication and journalism from Northern Illinois University (1974).

FACULTY EMERITI

Heidi Matthews

*Dean of the School of Education and Health Sciences;
Professor of Kinesiology*

Throughout her 25 years at North Central College, Heidi Matthews challenged and inspired her students to exceed their highest expectations.

In 1993 Matthews joined the College as head athletic trainer, director of sports medicine and instructor of health and physical education. Within nine years she had guided the athletic training program through an arduous accreditation process, leading North Central to become the first college in the Chicago area to gain accreditation in 2002.

Matthews grew her department exponentially and taught most of its athletic training courses. She was appointed the inaugural dean of the School of Education and Health Sciences in 2016. In that role, she was instrumental in developing the new health science major and master's of occupational therapy, and in overseeing major curriculum changes in education and kinesiology.

Always a mentor at heart, she created Cardinal Athletic Training Students (CATS) to provide scholars with additional support and networking opportunities.

Throughout her career, Matthews has been recognized as an expert in athletic training education. She earned the College's Dissinger Award in 1998 and the Cleo Tanner Award in 2009. She was honored as the Great Lakes Athletic Trainers Association Outstanding Educator in 2018; named to the Illinois Athletic Trainers Association Hall of Fame in 2008; and recognized as the National Athletic Trainers Association College/University Head Athletic Trainer of the Year for Division III in 2005.

Matthews earned her B.S. from the University of Wisconsin (Madison) in 1981—a time when very few women entered the athletic training profession. She earned her M.S. from the University of Arizona one year later.

Godfrey Muganda, Ph.D.

Professor of Computer Science

Godfrey Muganda was an innovative, impassioned leader in the computer science department, wholly dedicated to the success of his students. Muganda came to the U.S. from Tanzania in 1974. He taught computer science at Memphis State University from 1985 to 1990 before coming to North Central College.

Muganda was tenured in 1996 and promoted to professor in 1997. He served as chair of the computer science department from 2003 to 2009 and was graduate program coordinator from 2005 to 2009. Muganda also served as faculty mentor for North Central programming competition teams and coached them at the Associated Colleges of the Chicago Area programming competition.

He is a leading scholar in the field of fuzzy mathematics. His research on fuzzy algebra won him the Burlington Northern Foundation Faculty Achievement Award in 1992-1993. Muganda has published articles on fuzzy math for the Journal of Fuzzy Mathematics, Advances in Fuzzy Theory and Utilitas Mathematica. He is a co-author of two widely used textbooks, "Starting Out With C++: Early Objects" and "Starting Out with Java: From Control Structures through Data Structures," which is in its fourth edition.

Muganda earned his B.A. in mathematics from Eastern Mennonite College (1979), and an M.S. in mathematics from the College of William and Mary (1980). He earned a Ph.D. in mathematics (1984) and another M.S. in computer science (1990) from Lehigh University.

Stephen Renk, Ph.D.

Professor of Computer Science

Stephen Renk was a visionary in using computer technology as an educational tool. He was integral to the launch of the distinctive, interdisciplinary Interactive Media Studies program in 2006, melding computer science, art, English and speech communication. He taught more than 35 classes in a wide array of subjects.

Renk became an assistant professor in 1988 and was promoted to professor of computer science in 2002. He was named coordinator of academic computing and instructional technology in 2003. Renk twice chaired the computer science department, was graduate program coordinator from 1991 to 1998 and served as faculty speaker from 2005 to 2006.

He is the author of two books on teaching and technology: "The Micro Connection: A Bilingual Educators Guide to Microcomputers and Instructional Technology" (1984) and "Factors Affecting Academic Success in Introductory Computer Programming" (1987). He presented at schools across the country on instructional technology, programming, social media and the Internet.

Over the last decade, Renk shared his affinity for travel with students, leading study abroad trips all over the world, including China, Japan, Germany, Greece, France, Ireland, Italy, Mexico, and London and Oxford in England.

Renk earned his bachelor's in statistics (1973), his master's in computer science (1979), and his doctorate in computer science education and instructional design and technology (1986) from the University of Iowa.

John Shindler, Ph.D.

Professor of English; Director of the Center for Global Education

John "Jack" Shindler joined North Central in 1981 to develop a program for teaching English as a second language (ESL). Thirty-seven years later, he's proven himself a talented teacher-mentor and a leader passionate about internationalizing North Central's campus.

Shindler taught courses in literature and writing to both native and non-native speakers, developing the College's first sequence of ESL courses for international students. He chaired the department (1990 to 1992 and again in 2001) and the Division of Arts and Letters (1992 to 1994) before becoming director and founder of the Office of International Programs—now the Center for Global Education—in 1994.

Shindler's commitment to infusing international education on campus transcended academic departments. He grew the study abroad program to 50 programs; created and directed international travel seminars for 10 years; recruited and advised international students; founded the December Term study abroad program; recruited visiting Fulbright professors; and designed and launched the English Language Institute.

Shindler received a Freeman Foundation grant to enhance the study of East Asian culture and languages, as well as two grants from the U.S. Department of Education to internationalize the College's curriculum and launch its Middle Eastern and North African studies program.

Shindler twice won the Dissinger Award for Distinguished Teaching (1987; 1999) and the First Citizen of the College Award in 2003. He led the College in garnering the Senator Paul Simon Award for Comprehensive Internationalization in 2015. His scholarship focuses on the pedagogy of international education, globalizing the undergraduate curriculum and teaching writing and linguistics.

Shindler earned his B.A. from Williams College (1968) and Ph.D. from Rutgers University (1975). He completed a master's degree in TESOL from the University of Illinois-Chicago in 1987.

AWARDS

HONORS & AWARDS

The Gael D. Swing Award for Meritorious Service

The North Central College Gael D. Swing Award for Meritorious Service was established in tribute to the eighth president of North Central College, who died in 1990 just one month before completing his 15th year as president. Under President Swing's leadership, the College substantially improved its physical facilities and financial condition while nearly tripling its enrollment; gained regional and national recognition for the quality of its academic programs, its faculty and its students; and instituted the Leadership, Ethics and Values Program. The Swing Award is presented at Commencement to recognize alumni, trustees and friends of North Central College whose service to the institution exemplifies the quality and integrity that were hallmarks of Gael D. Swing's distinguished tenure as president of North Central College.

The Harold and Eva White First Citizen of the College Award

The Harold and Eva White First Citizen of the College Award was created to recognize a member of the North Central College family—faculty, staff or student—who exemplifies the best of the College. Established in 1992, the award honors the "unique spirit and legacy" of longtime editors and publishers of The Naperville Sun, the late Harold and Eva White, both Class of 1935.

Harold and Eva White displayed a special spirit and responsible citizenship on campus and in the larger community. Through their caring editorship of The Naperville Sun over more than a half century, their philanthropy and their generosity, they shaped North Central College and Naperville.

Eva White was a member of North Central College's Board of Trustees for 16 years and served as board secretary from 1986 until her death in 1990. She received an honorary doctor of letters degree in 1987. Harold White, who was named a North Central College Outstanding Alumnus in 1975, was awarded an honorary doctor of letters degree by the College in 1977 and was named an honorary trustee of the College in 1991. He passed away in 1993.

The Mark A. Reid Leadership Award

The Mark A. Reid Leadership Award is named in honor of a young man who died in an automobile accident in 1984 during his term as president of the North Central College Student Association. The recipient of this annual award is determined by a vote of the senior class. It is presented at Commencement to a student who has demonstrated outstanding leadership ability, served prominently as a positive influence in student affairs, encouraged active involvement of others in the life of the College community, and exemplified the qualities of citizenship associated with Mark A. Reid.

The 2018 Dissinger Memorial Awards

The Clarence F. Dissinger and Ruth C. Dissinger Memorial Awards are funded by endowments established by Dr. Carl '21 and Ruth Dissinger '22 Althaus in memory of her brother, a member of the Class of 1921, and later by Dr. Althaus in memory of his wife. Awards are made to faculty and staff who have distinguished themselves in teaching, scholarship and service "over and above the call of duty."

Academic Regalia

The pageantry and color of an academic convocation such as today's Commencement come to us from early medieval times, when academic robes and regalia were adapted from ecclesiastical garb. Most robes were black to symbolize the democracy of scholarship, since they covered any dress indicating rank or social standing.

Three levels of academic achievement are represented by different types of gowns today. Successful completion of the bachelor's degree is symbolized by the bachelor's gown, made of black material with long, pointed sleeves. The master's gown is black and is identified by its oblong sleeve, square at the end and sealed. Master's degree recipients wear one of four colors of edging on their hoods: light blue for master of arts degrees; drab for master's in business administration recipients; white for degrees in leadership; and yellow for degrees in management information systems.

Although some universities prescribe a solid color such as red or green for doctoral gowns, most in the United States are black. Doctoral gowns have vertical stripes of velvet trim on each front facing, and crossbars of velvet on the sleeves. This trim may be black, or it may match the edging of the hood, which indicates the profession or field of major interest. These gowns have bell-shaped sleeves.

The length and shape of the academic hood, and the width of its velvet edging, identify the level of the degree the wearer has earned, while the color of the velvet edging indicates the field or discipline in which the degree was granted.

Because members of the North Central College faculty completed their graduate work at many different educational institutions in this country and abroad, there will be a variety of raiment in today's procession. Some degree holders wear no hood because their academic robe itself symbolizes the degree awarded.

For formal processions, members of North Central's Board of Trustees wear doctoral gowns and hoods with a red and white lining to represent the College. The gown and hood worn by President Troy D. Hammond reflect his doctoral degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT). Cardinal red and silver gray, the official school colors of MIT, also appear in his headwear.

Caps, generally mortarboards with tassels, have their own significance. Some international degree holders wear special hats distinctive to their degree and institution. Master's and bachelor's tassels are black, while the doctorate tassel may be black or gold. Undergraduate students wearing gold tassels on their caps today are graduating with honors—cum laude, magna cum laude or summa cum laude.

Seal & Presidential Medal

The North Central College seal was designed in 1925 for Pfeiffer Hall to symbolize North Central's early academic tradition: religion, signified by the lamp, and learning, represented by the book. The words "lux" and "veritas" mean "light" and "truth" in Latin.

The seal is featured on the presidential medallion, which is worn by the president in ceremonies requiring academic regalia. The medallion reflects the president's authority, responsibility and role as representative of the campus community. Cast in bronze, the medal is inscribed with the names and service dates of the previous nine presidents.

International Participants

Sashes embroidered with international flags are being worn by students who have studied abroad while enrolled at North Central College. In addition, the flags next to the stage represent the home countries of international students who are graduating today and countries where graduates studied abroad.

Bulgaria	Germany	Russia
Canada	India	Rwanda
Chile	Indonesia	South Korea
China	Japan	Sweden
Colombia	Kenya	Swaziland
Croatia	Lithuania	Uzbekistan
Czech Republic	Macedonia	United Kingdom
Ecuador	Mexico
El Salvador	Philippines

Honor Cords

College Scholar is a recognition awarded to those North Central students who have completed the College Scholars Honors Program, a rigorous curriculum that culminates in the completion of a senior honors thesis. A solid gold honor cord symbolizes the "excellence through community" that is this program's motto. In addition, select North Central College students have been inducted into national honor societies. The following lists those cord colors.

EMERGENCY INFORMATION

Fire Safety

If the fire alarm sounds, exit the building via the closest exit, including emergency exits. Ushers will help direct you to a safe location away from the building.

Severe Weather Safety

In the event of severe weather, evacuation instructions will be given from the stage. Safe areas include interior hallways, locker rooms and stairwells. Avoid glass doors and windows. Ushers will help direct you to a safe location.
